

Workshop: More on “Teach like a learner”
Skills Development Conference, December 1, 2016
Makoto Yoshii, Prefectural University of Kumamoto

In this workshop...

- Re-visit ideas from SLA
- Find ways to apply principles to teaching
- Share ideas

Ideas from SLA

- Input Hypothesis
- Output Hypothesis
- Interaction Hypothesis
- Fluency Development

*Please see the keynote speech materials for the details

Let's talk about Input

- What kind of input can we give?
- Any good materials or resources?
- How much input?

Let's talk about output

- What kind of output can we ask students to produce?
- Any good means or tools?
- How much output?

Let's talk about interaction, fluency development, etc.

- How can we offer opportunities for interaction?
- How can we help students develop fluency?

Let us apply what we learned from each other to our teaching.
